Mrs. Dulles in Hospital

Mrs. John Foster Dulles, widow of the former Secretary of State, is in a hospital here with a broken vertebra. She broke her leg last December, ventured out on crutches several days ago during an icy spell and fell again.

They Also Serve

Harvard may be supplying most of the top officials in the Kennedy Administration, but it seems that Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Conn., is supplying many of them, too.

Among the graduates of that institution are Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Mrs. Douglas Dillon, wife of the Secretary of Treasury, and Mrs. Allen W. Dulles, wife of the head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Other "ancients," as they are called when they leave Miss Porter's, include Letitia Baldrige, Mrs. Kennedy's principal secretary, and Mrs. Ellsworth Bunker, wife of the forthcoming Ambassador to Brazil.
